

Abstract

The present invention aims to provide an electrical cable assembly which is inexpensive and allows a user to make a proper connection between devices. Electrical connectors which are fixed on both ends of the cable are provided with a visual indicator which enables a user to make a proper connection with a tuner or PDP (Plasma Display Panel) even with the interchangeable mating surfaces of the electrical connectors.